

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

FOR FISCAL YEAR 2013

RACKHAM GRADUATE SCHOOL
UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

THANK YOU

Your gift to the Rackham Graduate School in fiscal year 2013 was an important contribution in support of graduate students across the spectrum of academic fields at the University of Michigan. To this end, we:

- Disbursed $60 million last year in funding for Ph.D. and master's students
- Hosted 72 professional development workshops for students
- Supported and enhanced graduate student mentoring initiatives
- Funded over 60 interdisciplinary workshops to foster collaboration and community among graduate students

Financial support for graduate students is a key priority in the University's current Victors for Michigan campaign. At Rackham, it is our sole priority. With 8,200 students in 108 Ph.D., 87 master's, and 37 certificate programs, your gift matters. Your help allows a graduate student to take maximum advantage of the research and educational opportunities at the University, participate fully in the life of the diverse campus community, and acquire the teaching and leadership skills needed for a wide range of careers.

Thank you for giving back to graduate students. You are an essential part of their success.

Please note that our draft honor roll will be replaced by a 2015 Annual Report and Honor Roll of Donors next winter.

I AM RACKHAM

Timeka Williams

Ph.D. Candidate, Communication Studies

Rackham Merit Fellowship

"Rackham is the core of the graduate student experience in that it is the first slice of the larger institution students get to know intimately. By providing me funding, Rackham made the Michigan difference for me."

"My research focuses on race, gender, media and spirituality and the ways in which black women interpret and are influenced by media. I am involved with a Rackham Interdisciplinary Workshop that serves as a gathering of students from all levels of graduate study who work in related fields. The group is designed to connect people across disciplines, serve as a support system for students at different stages, host workshops and speakers, and provide community-building events like movie nights."

Rackham supports almost 60 different interdisciplinary workshops to connect graduate students at Michigan.

In advance of the Annual Report, please notify us with your preferred name and method of communication by contacting rackham.alums@umich.edu.

Corporate Matching Gifts play a vital role in our ability to provide student and program support. In this Honor Roll, we continue to credit each donor with his or her corporate matching gift. Therefore, you may find yourself listed in a higher giving range than expected.

Thank you again for your generous support of graduate education at the University of Michigan.

"What matters to me is helping students, giving them an opportunity to do something. My husband and I were both graduate students at Michigan. We received Rackham funding and were able to graduate with no debt. We moved to Boston and found that our Rackham degrees were highly valued in the business world in ways we never had anticipated. Rackham had prepared us to be very successful. I'm gratified that today Rackham is doing so much more to help students prepare for non-academic careers and to understand that success can take many shapes."

Colin Quinn

Ph.D. Student, Anthropology

Arts of Citizenship Award, Conference Travel Grants, International Research Award

"The amazing opportunities at Michigan wouldn't be there without donor support. The uniqueness of the program that makes Michigan Michigan wouldn't exist. Students and faculty here do innovative and cutting edge research and the students move on and apply it globally, expanding Michigan's reputation and influence around the world."

Colin's research focuses on the organization of civilization in mining communities during the "gold rush" era in Romania during the Bronze Age, making comparisons between Bronze Age mining communities and controversial mining issues today. He examines current cultural heritage and revitalization efforts in threatened landscapes. Using funding through the Rackham Arts of Citizenship program, he created venues for the local citizens to utilize mining tools and storytelling that collectively engage and educate the entire community.

Rackham Alumnus
 Master's, English Language and Literature

"Graduate education is the body, the heart, the soul of the academy. Rackham is an incredibly unique community of scholars. Now more than ever, graduate students need our support and encouragement. If my wife and I can help one student pursue her research or any other scholarly pursuit, then we are enriching the future of this treasure of an institution.

"I support Rackham because I believe graduate education is such an important part—if not the most important element—in the future of the University. Out of Rackham come our future teachers and leaders. Giving was a way to help ensure this legacy. I felt a great debt to pay back to the institution for the time I was here."

I AM RACKHAM

Lingli He

Ph.D. Student, Civil Engineering

Rackham Predoctoral Fellowship

"Rackham means a lot to me. My research is a collaboration between four departments at Michigan, and Rackham has provided a great platform for this to happen.

"With Rackham funding and travel awards, I've been able to broaden the international reach of the University and participate in collaborative initiatives that wouldn't have been possible otherwise. Funding also helped me to follow my passion. Besides solving scientific issues, I'm excited to convey the scientific implications to policymakers. Rackham funding allowed me to participate in a collaborative project to propose strategies for governments to adopt future climate change policy to protect ecosystems and manage energy demands. This made me a better scientist and leader."

Rackham Alumnus

Ph.D., Chemistry

"Rackham is generating the cream of the crop with graduate education, developing leaders of the country and training the very best at Michigan.

"In recent years Rackham has been more proactive in reaching alumni. I think it is wonderful. Now Rackham is so much more. For us, giving back to the university is very important. We give it all to Michigan. Saving a student from having to do a lot of non-pertinent work to support their studies is important. If we can help in that way, that's what we want to do."

Rackham Travel Grant, Rackham Research Grant

"Rackham provides great opportunities for all students. Many graduate students get support from their labs, but Rackham provides overarching support to all graduate students when help is needed.

"We are researching varying aspects of transcription factors in DNA sequences in a Rackham-funded MCubed project that focuses on biological and medical aspects of research to regulate genes in animals. As part of the project, different labs use similar pools of knowledge and understanding of other genetic pathways to draw parallels between gene regulation. The goal of our project is to create a clearer idea of the way in which the binding domain searches and finds its target for the potential medical applications in future research. This collaboration gives all researchers a broader context in which to work, creating opportunity to bolster different bodies of research."

I AM RACKHAM

Benedito Machava

Ph.D. Student, History

Rackham Conference Travel Grant

"Rackham funded my travel to Mozambique for the pilot phase of my research. Rackham funding keeps alive this tradition that cherishes innovation and on-the-ground field work. Rackham is central to that kind of research.

"My dissertation focuses on the making of independent Mozambique and the re-education system in which the government attempted to force new citizenry by banishing undesired people to the far reaches of the country. This is a story that's never been told; a way of redeeming the voices of people that have been completely forgotten."

"I wouldn't have been able to get the job I wanted if it weren't for Rackham support. Through a Rackham-funded internship, I worked at the Detroit Institute of Arts in conjunction with my Rackham Museum Studies program. I wouldn't have gotten to do such an intensive internship without Rackham funding. Fulfilling my dream, I now work at the DIA as their assistant registrar.

"It is important to support graduate students because they are the ones bringing new and innovative ideas into the workforce. I received excellent advising and professional networking opportunities that encouraged me in my endeavors. And because of the funding I received from Rackham, I left school with no student debt."

Rackham Travel Grant, Rackham Research Grant

"Rackham funding laid the foundation for my dissertation research involving the potential role of early life rhinovirus infection in the development of asthma. My dissertation focuses on how the rhinovirus infection affects the body's normal immunological response to protect against bacteria or virus, but instead causes the body to follow a different path that can cause an allergic response, including asthma. I believe that studying the development of asthma early in life is a key factor in improving asthma treatment and prevention.

"Rackham is a family tradition for me. I lived in Ann Arbor as a child when my dad received a master's degree from U-M. When it came time to apply to doctoral programs, there was no question as to where I wanted to go. It was an easy choice to come back to Michigan."

Rackham Centennial Fellowship

"I was fortunate to receive a Rackham Centennial Fellowship. The availability of funding creates a competitive environment for students to put their best foot forward and explain their work well to a broad audience. This challenge is great for developing the quality of academic work of graduate students and the University of Michigan.

"My dissertation examines the landscape of Detroit during the Ford 'golden age' of housing development and the story of mass production and industrialization that became a cultural phenomenon that made the city."
