VIEWING DISSERTATION RESEARCH/WRITING STATUS

Records and Enrollment > Career and Program Information > Student Groups

Look in the second box where it says Student Group, note the "Status" is "Active." If there is a date next to the "Effective Date," that would be the beginning of the Dissertation Research/Writing period. If there is no date next to the "Effective Date," the student does not have Dissertation Research/Writing status.

This example shows someone NOT on Dissertation/Research Writing status (no date next to the "Effective Date").

Look in the second box where it says Student Group, note the "Status" is "Inactive" and there is a date next to the "Effective Date." This student would have Dissertation/Research Writing status that ends on the "Effective Date."
